📄 PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

My passion for law started from an early age. Faced with the challenge of choosing between private and public law, both of which deeply fascinated me, I made the decision to enrol in a unique L.L.B. program in the Netherlands that specializes in both. This program exposed me to a variety of courses, from corporate law to technology regulation. All of these were done by approaching law through transnational, international and comparative lenses. What sets this academic program apart is its incorporation of sociological and social behavioural viewpoints, adding a holistic dimension to the study of law. Following my graduation, I translated this theoretical knowledge into practical experience by working in a law firm and the legal department of a satellite company in Singapore.
