₽≡ PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

My passion for the law began early, driven by the realization that the law is the foundation of society. To truly understand and improve society, mastering the law is essential. This led me to enroll in a unique L.L.B. program in the Netherlands, where I studied subjects like corporate and tax law through comparative lenses. I explored major legal systems, including those of England, France, and Germany, gaining insights into their approaches to legal and social issues.

After graduating, I gained practical experience in a law firm and the legal department of a satellite company in Singapore, followed by work in a legal unit of a government agency in Israel.

I am now pursuing an LLM in Law & Technology in Jerusalem, specializing in intellectual property, privacy, and emerging technologies, staying at the forefront of legal developments in the tech world.
